Additional Comments:
Ice pack(s) may be present, depending on agreement and packaging format.

* This product must be checked on core temperature, as it is packed into plastic tray with certain thickness, hence any surface temperature reading (IR or probe pressed against tray) will be inaccurate.

 Cheeses will naturally generate small amount of heat from the fermentation process when cultures metabolise lactose, protein, fat and other nutrients, then further retained when tightly packed into small cardboard box. Therefore, product core temperature will slightly increase after packing during storage/transit.
