What are the Osteoflex® Sport tablets?

Bone constitutes the fundamental part of our joints. For movements to be smooth and joints to be flexible there must be a layer of cushioning and lubrication between the bones. This layer is made up of a shock-absorbing tissue called cartilage and a natural fluid called synovial fluid. Healthy cartilage and synovial fluid make it possible for joints to move easily and comfortably. Osteoflex® Sport provides ideal nutritional joint health support for recreational and professional athletes as well as gym goers and all physically active people. It contains vegetarian Glucosamine fortified with Vitamin C, Manganese, and Curcumin (Turmeric Extract). Vitamin C contributes to collagen formation crucial for the function of cartilage and bones, which is important for the growth and repair of connective tissue. Glucosamine is present in relatively high concentrations in the joints and connective tissues, and is necessary for cartilage repair and maintenance. It helps cartilage to be more flexible. Manganese is an important mineral that contributes to the maintenance of normal bones and connective tissue formation. Turmeric is a natural anti-inflammatory agent which has been known to be beneficial for those who want to maintain joint health.
