

A chocolate star system, on the edge of the universe... we must be on another planet?

Did you know that the Milky Way is the galaxy that contains our solar system and is made of as many as 400 billion stars and possibly as many planets too? No one knows if there are beings on these planets or if they would like chocolate. Why not make your own Milky Way every morning by adding Chocolate Stars to your bowl of favourite milk for a breakfast that's out of this world? You could add nuts or fruit as planets. Then listen very closely, hear the silence of space and imagine - is there anyone else, somewhere out there, who'd like to share breakfast with you? Do they have blue or maybe green fingers - and how many?

My gluten free journey began in 1978 when I discovered how difficult it was to find suitable grain and food. So a gluten free diet. The restrictive attitudes of alternative grains and their ability to create spectacular dishes to fill my imagination. With a FREEE cereal and cereal in my cupboard I'm ready for the day ahead. It's great eating my morning with a hot organic breakfast that's a great source of fibre. With these foods, you can be sure you're eating healthy, free, good, and out there.
